Cervical carotid baroreceptors in the rabbit. To determine whether baroreceptors exist in the carotid artery and their influence on the carotid sinus, rabbit carotid sinus strips were studied in vitro using a piezoelectric transducer to measure arterial pressure. Two distinct baroreceptor discharge patterns were found. The most frequent response, type 1, consists of a single action potential superimposed on the regular spontaneous activity; this discharge could be correlated with abrupt increases in arterial pressure and decreased in heart rate. The second discharge pattern, type 2, appears as a burst of more than 3 action potentials superimposed on the regular spontaneous activity; this discharge could be correlated with gradual increases in arterial pressure and increased in heart rate. The two discharge patterns and their responses to various mechanical and pharmacologic manipulations support the existence of two separate mechanisms of baroreceptor control.

Q: Drawing a shape around a circle in canvas I'm trying to draw a circle, on a canvas and then draw a polygon around it. All of the documentation I've found says to use `getContext("2d").drawCircle(x, y, radius)` but when I do this, the circle stays as it is, instead of shrinking and moving, so I had to use a `ctx.beginPath()` and `ctx.moveTo(x, y)` and then draw a line to a point but the circle still doesn't move. I also tried using the `ctx.arc()` function but I couldn't get that to work either. Here's my code: `ctx.arc(x + radius, y, radius, 0, 2 * Math.PI); ctx.beginPath(); ctx.lineTo(x, y); ctx.lineTo(x + radius, y); ctx.fill(); ctx.beginPath(); ctx.moveTo(x + radius, y); ctx.lineTo(x + radius + width, y); ctx.lineTo(x + width, y); ctx.closePath(); ctx.fill(); ctx.beginPath(); ctx.moveTo(x + width, y); ctx.lineTo(x + width - radius, y + height); ctx.lineTo(x + width - radius, y); ctx.lineTo(x + width, y + height)`

Q: How to use the function of a framework in another framework? I am building an app in Swift 3 using React-Native. I use the react-native-maps package, in order to use the Google Maps API in my app. I have imported the package in the AppDelegate.swift file. `import GoogleMaps` However, I also use the firebase real time database in my app. So far I have to use Firebase on my own. In my AppDelegate.swift file, I also imported the Firebase pod. `import Firebase` This causes some issues, because I need to use the function: `FIRDatabase.database().reference()` So, I have attempted to import both the react-native-maps pod, as well as the Firebase pod in the AppDelegate.swift file. `import Firebase import ReactNativeMaps` Even if I add each of the pods individually, the AppDelegate.swift file gets completely empty because there is no reference to any of the pods. Is there any way to import the pod of the react-native-maps package in the AppDelegate.swift file in order to use the methods of the react-native-maps package in the AppDelegate.swift file, and also in the rest of the files where it is imported? A: Did you read the docs? Here you can see that you have to use a separate module for your AppDelegate. Check the next example for a complete application: `// AppDelegate.swift import UIKit import React import RNTMeters @UIApplicationMain class AppDelegate: UIResponder, UIApplicationDelegate { var window: UIWindow? func application(_ application: UIApplication, didFinishLaunchingWithOptions launchOptions: [UIApplication.LaunchOptionsKey: Any]?) -> Bool { // Override point for customization after application launch. // Add any view controller, or view, as a child view controller here. //`
