As the Hundred Years' War rages across the land, you lead your people to new shores and new civilizations. Must you accept the mercy of the Anglo-Saxons? Can you create a new nation that will endure? The choice is yours... and yours alone. Lead your people through wars, treaties, and betrayal as you rule over a Europe in turmoil. Medieval Kingdom Wars is a game of political strategy, economic management, culture clash, and dynastic ambition. You may choose between one of six nations over the course of four dynastic eras. Choose wisely, for history is not kind. 15 Reviews 5/5 Casual Gamer 7/06/16 "Brilliant game and easily recommended for those who love strategy and grand war and strategy." 4/5 Jubilee Games 22/07/16 "The game was worth the money and well worth my time and money. The game is very enjoyable and it's worth the money. " jamespowell 10/11/15 "This game is excellent and highly recommended to anyone that like strategy and war games, and also the tenacious struggle that our ancestors went though during the Hundred Years War. The game is a real mix of tactics, economy, diplomacy and a bit of luck." Join the conversation and comment on the forums! Q: My wife got the Google Playstore app for you, but I can't see it on the list of games.

A: It probably won't work with the variant listed in the Google Playstore.

Q: Why does download speed depend on which WiFi router or access point we use?

A: In real time, downloads are started automatically and/or paused by our servers. The difference between or WiFi router / access point is the timeframe on when you should start to/pause to download. By default, we are balancing the downloads in an optimal way with very little traffic, but using it with a cheap router & access point is not guaranteed to work. On one hand, it can be tried for testing, and then you can use the WiFi settings/app on the Android phone to compare the times for the tested WiFi router and see which works better.

Q: I have adb drivers installed, but I don't see them in the setup / console / android monitor.

A: You might not see them in that right-click menu. Then, try to install the "Android Debug Bridge" through Android Studio (see the answer).

Q: My Am I using Am I Using games or your product name, which game am I using.

A: Am I Using is the official Am I using Checker.
We are collecting data about which game is named which on the developer's website.

Q: My overview page shows PPD and PPD

The Derelict v2 Pre-Gen for Fantasy Grounds The Derelict v2 Pre-Gen for Fantasy Grounds 2 This is my second time seeing this show. The first time i went i had a hard time imagining the show without Dave but i see that he is back and better than ever. I would recommend this show not for the average viewer but for those who love SHARE some humor with their friends. I will be tuning in again for the next Saturday. The show begins at 5:00pm. As an added bonus to my main review of this show, here's my anticipation review for the guest appearance of Anna Maurer; singer/songwriter extraordinaire. The anticipation for this review went into the stratosphere, when I first read that Dan Harmon (creator of 'Community') was on the show with her. I have been anxiously awaiting this appearance of her on the show so that it finally happened. Well it happened and there's no doubt as to why there was no way to mistake her for anyone else. Completely uninhibited, from the moment the episode first started, there was no mistaking Anna Maurer. She's pure, unmitigated joy and laughter. She was simply the best entertainer i've seen live in any capacity this year; probably ever. I could hear a pin drop for the entire duration of the show, as her every joke, character, and song were received by a full, enthusiastically cheering audience. She is so utterly delightful and charming that she makes me wish she'd do a tour that takes her to live in my city. Unfamiliar with her music? The video below will give you an idea of what she can do; perfect for all ages. Hello everyone! I hope everyone's weekend was fantastic! My weekend consisted of a film and a show. I had not seen a film in several years (the last film I saw was Crash, in 2004). I have a growing obsession with going to the cinema since I finally moved away from the suburbs. I was

The deadly threat is your best friend. You can pick up a few points here and there with a deadly threat, but one of these cards is good enough to be a mover in your deck. The various abilities for removal and attrition mean that you can use a deadly threat strategically when the right moment strikes. Know Your Enemy Either start playing a card completely poorly or finish it well and you can get a better card out of it. A deadly threat is generally played when the meta requires it. It can easily force yourself into a game you don't want to be in or push someone into a corner too far. In multiple cases where I lost to Doomsday it was as a result of a lack of lethal control and I was terrified of losing to the counterplay of the lethal threats. Deathtouch comes in two forms, when it is put on an empty board (for me, this has been a strong card) or in the form of an impact felt from epic. The best form for a deadly threat comes in the form of a counterplay. When you can draw the maximum amount of what you need in a round, you can crush someone with the help of a lethal threat. I have rarely been ok to run the deadly threat by itself because the counterplay in the deck means that I can't do it on my own. Drawing into three power that does less on a one turn kill is also quite difficult. I have seen the lethal threat killed with three power by shutting me out of the game. When playing a Deadly threat, I play in a different mindset to how I normally play. Normally you look to draw cards and function as easily as possible, but my entire thought process is "draw the best card I can get, so I can win this round". While just killing someone next turn isn't good enough, it is much better than the cards that are thrown at you because of the situation. Defying Gravity There's a range of health that is acceptable, no matter what the case. A Deadly threat can tap for 0 without much damage.name=Monks of Rage image= value=2.500 rarity=C type=Creature subtype=Monk cost={2}{B} pt=2/2 ability={1}{B}, SN gets +1/-1 until end
