We Are The Caretakers sounds like nothing you have ever heard before. It is tribal and moody but it is also infectious and out of this world. We Are The Caretakers is an action-adventure game with puzzle elements and of course, it's best played with headphones on! The game is played from an isometric perspective which means your camera is directly over the center of the game world. This method allows you to look over almost any object while still being able to see what you're doing. The game is played in real time on the x86 and x86_64 platforms. The game is about 20 minutes long. Music by Jon Parra. Heart Shaped Games and Jon Parra have a history dating back to 2009 when Jon Parra performed the original soundtrack for We Are The Caretakers. Since then, Jon Parra has gone on to perform the original soundtrack for We Are The Caretakers 2, We Are The Caretakers 3, and We Are The Caretakers 3D. Heart Shaped Games had a song on the soundtrack for We Are The Caretakers 3D which they produced in collaboration with Jon Parra. Jon Parra is a composer, musician, and sound designer based in the San Francisco Bay area. He is also the founder and owner of Egenerate music which specializes in sound effects for film and video games. Jon Parra's earliest work was as a guitar player, songwriter, and bassist for a 1980's rock band that recorded several self produced albums. He started Egenerate in 2009 as a sound design and music production company. Jon Parra has worked on several games, two of which were featured as Gamer's Choice winners. Jon Parra's music has been featured on several national television shows including: The Simpsons, Late Show with David Letterman, and Tosh.0 Jon Parra's Website: Jon Parra's Twitter: Jon Parra's Facebook: Heart Shaped Games and Jon Parra have a history dating back to 2009 when Jon Parra performed the original soundtrack for We Are The Caretakers. Aspirin use after transient ischemic attack (TIA) is controversial. We estimated the cost effectiveness of aspirin use as a post-TIA treatment to prevent recurrent TIA or stroke (rTIA/stroke) using a Markov modeling approach. We used information from the Global Registry of Acute Coronary Events (GLOBAL) study for our cost analysis. We used the GLOBAL registry for the Markov modeling analysis. A Markov model was used to compare rTIA/stroke rates and life expectancy in patients with and without aspirin use. The lifetime cost for treatment with aspirin for a patient with rTIA

Park Graffiti Cozy Park was a graffiti and hip hop art gallery and space in Walker's Point neighborhood, Cranston, Rhode Island. Opened in 2012, it was a 22-foot-by-60-foot (6.5 by 18.2 m) indoor gallery and home to 30

diverse artists working with multiple mediums. It was more than an art gallery, as it was designed as a community space where guests could engage in live music, DIY activities, and open-mic events. Still open and now closed, it was the only place of its type left in New England. History Graffiti Cozy Park was opened in 2012 as an underground graffiti art gallery, being the first such space in the New England area. It was opened by Jake Gwizdz and Tim Mulvey. The co-founders lived down the street and saw spots for potential locations for a shop or a gallery. When they realized that there were only two such galleries left in the New England area, the two friends decided to open up their own. Graffiti Cozy Park has had constant struggles, as their location is near a private housing development and they are only allowed to lease the space for 18 months at a time. They have also dealt with city interference regarding building codes and city zoning. The two founders opened up the space with over $10,000 of their own money. The majority of money spent on the building renovation came from a landscaper and upholsterer. They had a plan to take out the outdoor portion of the gallery due to police concerns of graffiti-related behavior. Most of the time though, they have simply left the exterior walls white since they wanted a blank canvas for their artists. When the Cranston Reporter first wrote an article about the gallery, an unknown person vandalized the indoor interior and spray-painted anti-aircraft missiles in the windows. The art gallery opened in the summer of 2012 and enjoyed a surge in popularity. Between 2012 and 2017, approximately 25 different local, national, and international artists came to Graffiti Cozy Park and painted their works. Some common styles seen at the gallery over the years included politically-charged themes and epic single paintings. Artists of the collection have been referred to as the "Spritzer Tribe" and "Big Al's Gallery of Art." On September 18th, 2014, Jake's little brother was killed in a car crash. This would be the turning point for the co-founders
