This is something that's been a long time coming and we're incredibly excited to be able to bring it to life. The updates to the gameplay engine are hugely exciting for us. We see that as one of the pillars of FIFA that we will continue to deliver on." said Joseph Richards, Producer of FIFA. "As a football enthusiast and one of the leading football simulation companies in the world, we are totally dedicated to create the best football game and it is because of our passion for football that we have been able to add such new and important features to the FIFA franchise." said Raúl Alcantara, Executive Producer of Adidas. The HyperMotion Technology can be found in the following modes: Attacking, Goalkeeper, Goalkeeper 2.0, Kicking, Kicking 2.0, 1vs1, 1vs1 (Demos), 4vs4 (Demos), 5vs5 (Demos), 6vs6 (Demos), 7vs7 (Demos), 11vs11 (Demos) and Goalie Control (Demos). The following is a list of other new gameplay features in FIFA 22: Attacking Pass and Carry Successful passes now offer a number of different options to move the ball into a teammate, as well as gaining momentum. As a result, the technical skill required to pass the ball has been significantly reduced, unlocking a new level of freedom and creativity to play for the team. Super Shot The Super Shot, once a very uncommon shooting technique, is now more likely to happen in FIFA. This has increased the tactical flexibility of the player, meaning that players can create their own striking opportunity. Attack 2.0 For the first time, team tactics have been given a clear voice and weight in attacking situations. This allows players to select tactics quickly and dynamically by pressing one button: "Attack 2.0." This new style of play will give a more human feel to the game. Real Passes The Real Pass makes it possible to real-time measure the accuracy of all passes. The new error meter enables us to calibrate the pass distance more precisely. For the first time, players can defend more confidently knowing that the ball cannot break their pass line any more. Prediction Behaviour FIFA 22 offers a new layer of tactics for 1vs
