

Crystal Reports 10.5.3700.0 [PORTABLE] Free Download

so i need to install the new 10.5.3700.0 version. the official site of this product can be found at . you can either download the program and install it in your pc or you can download the setup program which will automatically install the program in your pc. to install the new version 10.5.3700.0, i can use either the setup program or the "crystal report wizard". i prefer the setup program to install the new version because i can easily uninstall the old version in the "programs and features" in the control panel. to install the new version of the program, i use the setup program. i press the "next" button until i reach the "installation" screen, then i enter the information requested in the setup program. i provide my name and email address in the "company name" box. i provide the location of the folder where the setup program will install the new version of the program in the "installation folder" box. then i specify the product key and click the "next" button. then the setup program starts to download and install the new version of the program. when the setup program is finished, i press the "finish" button and the program starts the installation process. it will be installed in my "c:\program files\business objects\crystal report xi r2" folder. in my case i got the new version in "c:\program files (x86)\business objects\crystal reports xi r2\crxir.cruir19.10.0_x86.exe" folder. but this is not a good idea because then it's a matter of installing the cr for visual studio 2008 every time you upgrade your visual studio version and every time you want to create a crystal report project from vs.
